FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Suzlon Group signs framework contract for upto 250 MW for French wind projects

Pune / Hamburg: Suzlon Group-subsiidiary, REpower Systems SE, has signed a framework contract with Maïa Eolis, a subsidiary of Maïa Group and GDF Suez, for the supply of up to 250 megawatts (MW) for onshore wind farms in France. The project is scheduled for delivery between 2012 and 2015.

The agreement strengthens the strategic alliance started with the first contract signed in 2004.

The contract comprises REpower's best-selling turbines – the MM82 and MM92 – with a nominal power of 2 MW, and the new REpower 3.4M104 and the 3.2M114 with 3.4 and 3.2 MW rated power respectively. The 3 MW series is the company's latest onshore development for sites with medium to low wind speeds.

Mr. Andreas Nauen, CEO – REpower Systems SE, said on the agreement: "We are delighted that Maïa Eolis has confirmed REpower as strategic provider for wind turbines in the coming years. This agreement is the start of the breakthrough of the REpower 3.XM series in France, after the successful ramp-up in other European markets. Moreover, our 3.XM series ideally suits the conditions on the French wind market."

Mr. Tulsi Tanti, Chairman – Suzlon Group, said: "This is an important agreement for the Group, it underscores our competitive product offerings and our strong positioning in what is a key market for wind energy in Europe."

About Suzlon Group:

The Suzlon Group is ranked as the world's fifth largest* wind turbine supplier, in terms of cumulative installed capacity, at the end of 2010.
